

Is my child behind with talking?

To check if your child is developing their talking skills on time, you can use an age tracker. A good one is available at speechandlanguage.org.uk. If you think your child isn't developing like other children, talk to your local GP, health visitor, or children and family centre. They can help you and may invite you to a group or refer you to speech and language therapy.

